

Corona crisis

The special virus protection program from Life Science Institute Hamburg:

- Improved virus protection ***

Special plant substances strengthen both the direct defense against viruses and non-specific virus protection.

- Strengthens the immune system

Special plant substances strengthen both the direct defense against viruses and non-specific virus protection.

- Regulates the immune system

Immune specific transfer factors from colostrum extracts support an extended activation of the natural killer cells, as well as the inhibition of an excessive immune reaction.

* Our product is based on meta-analyzes of existing studies for each component. The virus protection process has proven its effectiveness with different influenza A viruses in laboratory animals. Corresponding indications were also found in the protection against herpes viruses.

Note: Our virus protection program is not a specific therapy against the coronavirus. Rather, our treatment program provides an unspecific strengthening of the general immune system against viruses and other pathogens.
